

We Must Not Use Evil to Win

To: Epoch Times Editorials

Cc: Charlie Kirk

By Sterling D. Allan

Sept. 2, 2022

On Sept. 2, on his RAV TV show, Charlie Kirk interviewed Pedro Gonzales about his piece: "Where is the Right's Mark Elfias?" I found their advocacy utterly repulsive. The ends (a win) do not justify the means. It's not just WHAT we accomplish but HOW, that is important.

The Marxist conspirators lie, cheat, kill, riot, steal, praise violence against innocents, to advance their agendas. We absolutely must not employ these evil tactics to attain our objectives, or we're no better than them.

Charlie and Pedro were advocating the opposite, saying such things as, "We have to learn to be as ruthless as the enemy." Oxford defines "ruthless having no sympathy or pity; hard and selfish." Webster's defines it "merciless." Those absolutely are not Christian traits. Pedro also said, "We have to be willing to get our hands dirty [and] play the kind of games that Biden is playing." Charlie concluded, "We can learn from Mark Elfias and be as deceitful and treacherous as he is." I trust his MAGA Christian audience (move to end)

That's a despicable stance.

ence will push back big time against that evil sentiment, clearly not properly discerned. ②

What? do they want to win elections by cheating better than the Marxists?

not to I believe better of Charlie Kirk, but I have to call this one out.

Sterling D. Allan

ITrdCountry.com

#DontUseEvil2Win